Hemingway Breaks Training; Has A Drink

He Would Have Voted For Carl Sandburg 'Old Man And Sea' Story Helps To Win Award

SAN FRANCISCO DE PAULA, Cuba (AP) — Ernest Hemingway happily "broke training" and took a drink Thursday to celebrate his 1954 Nobel prize in literature. He said his choice as a judge would have been Carl Sandburg.

Hemingway, still recovering from injuries he suffered in a couple of plane mishaps in Africa in January, received the news at his rambling white plaster house on a hillside overlooking Havana.

"I am very proud and happy to receive the Nobel prize for literature," he told reporters. "If I had been on the board I would have voted for Carl Sandburg. He is a very dedicated writer."

Mentions Two Others

Hemingway said Sandburg's six-volume work on Lincoln would have influenced his vote, but he mentioned two other writers as also deserving the award—Izaak Dinesen and Bernhard Berenson. Izaak Dinesen is the pen name of the Danish writer Baroness Karen Blixen, who has lived for many years in Kenya and is the author of "Out of Africa."

"I'd be happier if she was getting this prize," Hemingway said. Berenson is a noted art critic and prolific writer on art subjects who lives in Florence, Italy. He was born of American parents in Lithuania and completed his formal education at Harvard University.

Home Rebuilt

Hemingway and his wife live here in the home Hemingway occupied in 1939 and has since rebuilt. It is near the setting for "The Old Man and the Sea."

Hemingway was dressed in grey trousers and a white guayabera—a Cuban shirt that hangs outside the trousers. He wore brown loafers. Mrs. Hemingway had on a white blouse and flowered toreador pants.

The novelist said he had been observing a strict routine including no liquor and bedtime at 10:30 p.m., while he recovers from his African injury. But he said "I broke training today" when he got first word of the Nobel prize from the Associated Press.

Royalty In Zurich

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece arrived by automobile Thursday from Germany. The 37-year-old Queen is to undergo operations here for her impaired hearing.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—The 1954 Nobel prize for literature was awarded Thursday to American novelist Ernest Hemingway for creating a new style in modern writing—lusty and action-packed. Thirteen members of the Royal Swedish Academy of Literature, sitting around a green and white table, selected the 56-year-old portrayer of death, violence and abortive love affairs. They voted this citation:

"Ernest Hemingway for his powerful mastery, which has created a new style in modern literature, as recently demonstrated again in 'The Old Man and the Sea.'"

The prize is a gold medal and a check worth $35,000.

Hemingway, author of such classics as "A Farewell to Arms" and "For Whom the Bell Tolls," will not be here Dec. 10 when Sweden's King Gustaf Adolf VI presents the Nobel literature, medicine, chemistry and physics prizes. Injuries suffered in two plane crashes in east Africa last January will prevent him from making the trip.

Hemingway is the sixth American-born writer to win the literary prize set up by the will of Alfred Nobel, Swedish inventor of dynamite.

Last year he was named by Sir Winston Churchill, who won the prize for his "mastery in historical and biographical writing, and the brilliant art of oratory."

Hemingway said he published "The Old Man and the Sea" because "I was broke."

Carl Burham Hurt In Two-Car Crash

Carl Burham, 59, of 4810 Adams, an electrical sub-station operator, suffered a leg injury late Thursday night in a two-car accident on the West Lincoln curve of Highway 34.

He was reported in good condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital early Friday morning.

Also injured was Raymond Earl Hill, 21, of 2120 O, who suffered minor cuts on the head. Hill is stationed at Lincoln Air Force Base.

West Lincoln Mayor Fred Way said Hill came on the highway from a side road and his car collided with Burham's car which was travelling northwest on Highway 34.

Sheppard Jury Sworn In; Next Issue—2 Alternates

... New Motions For Delay Killed

CLEVELAND (AP) — A jury finally was sworn in Thursday to try Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard for the murder of his pregnant wife, Marilyn.

It is made up of seven men and five women, including housewives and mothers, childless men and fathers, a timekeeper, a tool and die maker, a railroad ticket cashier, a receiving clerk, a real estate agent and a construction superintendent.

Only one member is a college graduate — James C. Bird, the cashier, who once taught school in Beckley, W. Va.

None of the 12 moved in the relatively exalted social strata of the 30-year-old defendant. Sheppard's family is one of the most prominent in Bay Village, a suburban town of 11,000 about 12 miles west of here on Lake Erie.

Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin called the 12 seated jurors above average for his courtroom, and "fair . . . impartial . . . intelligent."

Just before the jury was sworn in the ninth day of the trial, defense attorney William J. Corrigan renewed his motions for a delay or a transfer of the case to another county. Judge Blythin turned them both down.

The next order of business was the selection of two alternate jurors, who will substitute for any regular panel member who becomes ill or dies. First evidence in the case is not expected before next week.

The position of the alternates must be filled in one-two order. Each side has two peremptory challenges per position—or eight in all.

Two Eliminated

Before court adjourned for the night, each side used one of these to eliminate the only two prospects examined during the afternoon. The state excused James A. Kaczmarek, a postman and one-time missionary. The defense knocked out John C. Smith, curly-haired district supervisor for a firm that handles lifting devices for heavy machinery.

Judge Blythin allowed the jury to separate for their homes at the end of the day. He said he reserves the right to lock them up at any time during the trial if he thinks it necessary.

He also ordered a new special panel of 25 prospective jurors drawn. They are to report Friday morning, so there will be working material on hand for the selection of the alternates.

'Repulsive'

Sheppard has pleaded innocent in the bludgeoning of his 31-year-old wife. She was four months pregnant with her second child when she was killed in a bedroom of her home last July 4.

News Around The Globe

Workers Accept

LONDON (AP) — Striking British waterfront workers accepted a government compromise plan Thursday light for ending the crippling London dock tieup. But they insisted all other British ports agree to the terms of the plan before they would go back to work here.

The 11th hour hitch in negotiations hinged on how the compromise formula could be applied to the affected ports of Liverpool, Southampton, Hull, Manchester, Birkenhead and Garston. The spreading strikes — most of them wildcat — have tied up half a billion dollars worth of goods and idled 340 ships.

'Blown Up'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vice President Nixon all but predicted Republican victory in next Tuesday's elections because, he said, "the issues of foreign policy and depression have blown up in the Democrats' faces."

Nixon declared: "We are going to win. There is just one 'if' I think there are more undecided voters than ever before. The side which comes on the fastest in the last week wins."

Highest Lady

NEW YORK (INS) — Queen Mother Elizabeth of England became the highest lady in New York for 14 minutes.

Clutching her silk skirts to hold down her royal dignity, she was the one million, eight thousand and first visitor to brush the clouds atop the Empire State Building. Obviously, if a grin means the same thing in Britain as it does in the Bronx, the royal grandma loved it!

'Months Ago'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Evening Star said that months ago communications went out from the White House to government department and agency heads, urging that loyal Republicans be appointed to government jobs wherever possible, to help the party at election time.

Dismissal Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Owen Lattimore's attorneys Thursday asked dismissal of a new perjury indictment against the controversial Far East specialist, contending it is "a patent and serious threat" to the freedom of speech and the press.

Simultaneously with the filing of the dismissal motion in U. S. District Court, the British government disclosed that the FBI last September enlisted the aid of Scotland Yard in the Lattimore case, but got no information.

Watchers Sought

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — An Air Force general said "sky watch" posts that will need at least 100,000 volunteer workers are planned for the nation's Southwest underbelly.

The observation posts, which fill in radar blind spots—and in many cases substitute for that electronic eye — would stretch across 12 states, from Alabama to Arizona. The Gulf states, and their neighbors, lie across a potential bomber approach heretofore relatively unguarded.

Crash Kills 3

WILLIAMS AIR FORCE BASE, Ariz. (INS) — Three pilots were killed and one was injured Thursday in a collision of three T-33 jet training planes.

The planes were flying in a four-plane formation and had just entered the Williams Air Force Base landing pattern when a sudden air turbulence threw them together. The three crashed 10 miles south of the base. The names of those killed are being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Two Condemned

JERUSALEM, Israeli Section (AP) — Egypt and Israel were both condemned by the Mixed Armistice Commission Thursday for breaches of the armistice agreement. Egypt was censured for the blowing up of the Negev water pipeline Oct. 25 and Israel for a violation Oct. 26 when armed Israelis crossed the demarcation line and wounded an Arab farmer.

U.S. Indicts Union Chief

... Denver Man Held

DENVER (AP) — Maurice Travis, secretary-treasurer of the International Union of Mine, Mill & Smelter Workers (IUMMW) was arrested by federal marshals in union headquarters here Thursday on a charge of making false statements in denying Communist party membership.

The indictments were handed down after a 10-day secret session here of a federal grand jury. Witnesses were brought to Denver from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Oklahoma, Montana and Arizona.

Travis was taken to the office of U.S. Commissioner Joseph Neff where he posted a $10,000 cashiers check to cover his bond and was released.

Later, he told newsmen, the arrest took him "completely by surprise."

The grand jury heard evidence presented by U.S. Atty. Donald E. Kelley in eight sessions dating from Oct. 18.

Touch Of Bursitis 'Or Strain' Gives Trouble For Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — A "slight touch of bursitis or some slight strain" gave President Eisenhower a bit of discomfort during his television-radio address Thursday night.

About midway through the half-hour speech at a Statler Hotel dinner, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty called newsmen aside and told them:

"The President has either a slight touch of bursitis or some slight strain in his right shoulder."

No Treatment

Reporters had noticed that Eisenhower was keeping his right arm close to his side and waving to his audience with his left. His typical gesture of greeting is both arms outstretched above his head.

In response to questions, Hagerty said the ailment developed Thursday afternoon and that the President had had no medical treatment.

It Happened In NEBRASKA...

"Buffalo Bill" Cody was one of early Nebraska's most colorful figures. At 15, Bill became a Pony Express rider. Later, after gaining fame as a Civil War scout, he furnished buffalo meat for the railroad crews pushing west. In 1883, he organized his famous "Wild West Show"—which toured the east, then Europe. His home was on a ranch near North Platte.

TEAM PLAY WINS IN SPORTS It's Essential to Good Government in Washington

FOR THE PAST TWO YEARS A REPUBLICAN CONGRESS AND A REPUBLICAN PRESIDENT HAVE BROUGHT ORDER OUT OF CHAOS IN WASHINGTON

Taxes have been cut by $7.4 billions. Spending by the federal government has been greatly reduced. The number of government employees has been cut. The national defense program has been speeded up.

Communist infiltration into the government has been stopped and new laws have been passed to expose and prosecute them. Falling agricultural prices have been halted and a realistic approach to the problem of surpluses has been undertaken.

Peace in the world has been achieved. The fruitless Korean slaughter has been stopped and a foreign policy designed to strengthen our position in both Europe and Asia has been undertaken.

These and many more accomplishments have been achieved because a Republican Congress HAS WORKED TOGETHER WITH A Republican President.

Let's not break up the team when it is winning. Let's not go back to the New Deal Socialism. Let's not go back to the days of corruption in Government and Communist infiltration.

Keep the Republican team going forward by voting for Republican Roman Hruska for the United States Senate.

HRUSKA HAS EXPERIENCE IN GOVERNMENT

A prominent Omaha attorney, Roman Hruska has for the past ten years made an enviable record in public office. As a member and Chairman of the Douglas County Board of Commissioners, Hruska learned to represent his constituents with fairness and good judgment; was noted for progressive but economical thinking. For the past two years as a member of Congress, Hruska has earned the respect of the people of his district both Republican and Democratic. He knows Nebraska and Nebraska Problems.

Hruska, a native Nebraskan, has a wife and three fine children. Civic minded, Hruska belongs to many fine organizations among which are Kiwanis, Scottish Rite, Shrine, Omaha Uni. Board of Regents, the Nebraska and American Bar Associations.

Cpl. Batchelor Life Sentence Reduced To 20 Years

'An Example Of Mercy'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Saying he hoped "an example of mercy" would help Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor regain his belief in American ideals, the 4th Army commander Thursday reduced the young soldier's life sentence to 20 years.

The 22-year-old Kermit, Tex., soldier was convicted here Sept. 30 after a month-long court-martial on charges of aiding the enemy while a prisoner of war in Korea.

Lt. Gen. I. D. White Thursday upheld the conviction which included a dishonorable discharge with forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

"In the hope that Corporal Batchelor today, in retrospect, appreciates that the American way of life is worth many sacrifices and privation, I have reduced the sentence," White said in a statement accompanying the review of the sentence.

"SUN KILLS HIM"

"The decision is like cutting off a man's head at the eyebrows instead of at the neck, it still kills him," said Joel Westbrook of San Antonio, Batchelor's civilian attorney.

"We are going to continue to work for Claude's freedom," said his mother, Mrs. O. L. Batchelor in Kermit. "We feel he should be freed. We will be satisfied with nothing else."

Batchelor's case now will be reviewed by a board appointed by the Army judge advocate general.

Batchelor and Cpl. Edward Dickenson of Big Stone Gap, Va., were among the 23 Americans who originally chose to stay with their Communist captors. Both changed their minds and returned. Dickenson was convicted last May on charges similar to those faced by Batchelor and was given 10 years. His case is on appeal.

Faris, is freshman football coach at the University of Nebraska.

Also surviving are his wife, Tina; another daughter, Achsa of Alamosa, Colo., and brothers, John and Bill, both of Canon City.

Farmers Union Opposes Six Amendments

OMAHA (AP)—The Nebraska Farmers Union Thursday announced opposition to six of eight proposed Nebraska constitution changes.

The six the union urges its members to vote against next Tuesday are:

To replace the Board of Educational Lands and Funds with a committee appointed by the governor.

To authorize appointment instead of election of county assessors and county boards of equalization.

To abolish the State Board of Equalization.

To give the Legislature power to prescribe standards of determining value of property at uniform and proportionate values.

To permit the Legislature to exempt household goods and personal property from taxation.

To prohibit the state from levying a property tax if a sales or income, or both, tax is adopted.

Basin Changing To Integrated Reservoir System Operation

BISMARCK, N.D. (U)—The Missouri River Basin, a Corps of Engineers official said Thursday, has reached a transition this year that will mark a change from operation of one reservoir alone to "integrated operation of a filling main-stem reservoir system."

This was the report of Brig. Gen. W. E. Potter, Omaha, Missouri River Division Engineer for the Corps of Engineers, to the 77th meeting of the Missouri Basin Inter-Agency Committee.

R. J. Pafford Jr., head hydraulics engineer for the Corps of Army Engineers at Omaha, presented the report on main-stem reservoir operation in 1954 and 1955.

He said both the Garrison Dam and the Fort Randall Dam in South Dakota have reached the stage of being "functioning, operational main-stem works," and that their final completion is in sight.

He said these two major reservoir units will be linked with the Fort Peck Reservoir in Montana, which has been in operation some 17 years, into an integrated main-stem system.

The other night while bobbing for apples, your correspondent paused to consider the social system. This was very fortunate for it gives us a new set of bearings.

The curious thing about the social system is that it is so anti-social. All us social people are going around sticking anti-social pins in each other's doorbells.

Every day is Halloween for grownups. Only we call it a social system. That is the difference.

Well, that is beside the point.

POSTCARD

Comes the eve upon me when I must shell out cookies and candies to the neighborhood ruffians. Else my swinging gate will be on the roof and the water turned on in the fish pond.

They arrive at my door in masks. Witches, people with coats turned backwards, caps turned inside out.

"Trick or treat!"

I bribed these scoundrels last year with goodies from Fifth Avenue and pennies from heaven.

It still took the garage a couple of hours to get the soap off my car.

"Mr. Delaplane is nuts," I remember that being chalked by a childish hand on the left fender. This is so close to the truth that I am worried for fear adult eyes may also pierce my Halloween mask.

There were days when I was not nuts. When I poured the contents of my piggy bank into pins for doorbells. Instead of atom bombs that not only keep the neighbors awake but keep me sleepless, too.

Your agent was mighty agile in those days and could put a ratchet spool on a window and be a mile away before the householder could get his liver back to normal color.

I could unhinge a gate as quickly as you can strike a match. I could pin a doorbell so that it took a pair of pliers to get it out. On Halloween I was brash with my elders and spoke sharply to the police patrols.

I was very anti-social.

But what I am getting at is that, come Nov. 1, I became very social again. Or else I got a very warm time and sat painfully and distressed.

By and by we all grew up. Believe me it was a relief. Nowdays we can stick pins in doorbells any old night. And if that is not enough, we can stick pins in each other.

If somebody won't treat we don't have to put a ratchet on the window. We just rumble a few jets overhead. There's a trick. Everybody stays awake.

I have great sympathy for the car soapers on my block. I have been soft-soaping my allies for several years. I have been unhinging border gates and watching our own unhinged by other adults.

I have been putting on my fright wig and mask and hollering over the back fence while they put on their false noses and hollered back at me.

It hasn't been much of a treat. But it has been very social.

McClelland Denies Killing Guard; Says Confession False

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Charles Edward McClelland testified Thursday he did not kill Guard John Claussen, but falsely gave a "confession" to the April 16 print shop murder from information learned from the newspapers, radio, and other inmates.

Testifying in his own defense to a Lancaster District Court jury, McClelland was on the stand most of the ninth day in the trial—the longest session yet.

McClelland said that prior to making his "oral confession" on May 25 he felt as if he was "ready to blow my top." He said he made his confession after having one of his "spells."

The 25-year-old inmate said he was nervous, irritable, having severe headaches and "just didn't care what I was doing" when he made his "confession" to Sgt. Robert Nichols of the Nebraska Safety Patrol that night at the prison.

After confessing to killing Claussen, and giving a statement to Nichols, "McClelland said the trooper told him that 'I was wrong as to 16 details of the murder' except to telling where the money (allegedly taken from Claussen) was."

McClelland testified he knew inmate Harvey Durbin had a $5 and three $1 bills because Durbin had shown him the money and wanted him to keep it for him.

(Durbin, who committed suicide at the prison as the trial opened, was alleged by state testimony to have obtained the money from McClelland.)

McClelland testified that Sgt. Nichols, a key state witness in the trial, gave him two lie detector tests on April 16 and had told him afterwards, "Mac, you have nothing to worry about."

McClelland said he was confined to his cell for 19 days following the murder before being "released" by prison officials and returned to work.

However, during that time he and other "segregated inmates in the case" were together in the dining room, he said, "but that inmate Joseph DeYonghe (also charged in the murder, but committed to the state hospital) was

One-Way System Review Requested

A review by the Traffic Commission of the proposed one-way street system for Lincoln has been requested of the City Council by the Lincoln Promotion Council.

Leonard J. Hines, Promotion Council president, requested the review because of the close relationship between the one-way system and the problem of downtown business. The Commission, with two of three retail members dissenting, has approved the one-way proposal.

Herbert Hann testified McClelland was considered an "incorrigible prisoner" and identified several bad conduct reports on the inmate.)

Message Reported

McClelland said he deliberately got himself sent to the hole during the Claussen investigation because Joe Beades had sent a message he had to see him.

McClelland said Beades while in the hole said he (Beades) "didn't do it (Claussen murder) but bragged he knew something about it."

McClelland said he was later taken to the warden's office where Beades was with prison officials and Dep. Co. Atty. Elmer Scheele.

"Beades said 'Mac, Inmate Frey overheard us in the hole and has given them a statement,'" McClelland said.

McClelland said Warden Hann then told Beades "tell Mac it's your statement there on the desk."

"Knew About Knife"

McClelland said he then gave his written statement of June 5 to "take the heat off" of Beades.

McClelland related he was "segregated" in the investigation of the prison slaying of inmate Kenneth Bauman on May 11. He testified he knew Durbin had obtained the knife but did not know who did the cutting on Bauman's throat.

Dr. Paul A. Royal, second defense psychiatrist called, testified he found McClelland "without psychosis" when he examined him, but from his examination and tests reached the conclusions that the defendant has "definitely done many acts of which he has no memory" and has "psychotic (insane) behaviour at times."

He testified findings in spinal taps indicated definitely "some degeneration of the brain cells (an organic brain lesion)."

Will Visit Scene

On motion of the defense, joined in by the prosecution the jury will visit the state penitentiary to view the scene of the murder and other buildings.

Wagener cross-examined McClelland near two hours Thursday before the trial was recessed until Friday.

Probing into McClelland's testimony about his "spells" Wagener asked: "Why would you confess to a first-degree murder you say you haven't done?"

"I don't know myself the reason," McClelland said.

"Why did you maintain your guilt to the Claussen murder for more than a month," Wagener shot back.

McClelland stated he was mentally confused and was "suffering from severe headaches during the time."

Wagener produced a copy of a letter written by McClelland to his mother admitting the Claussen murder "was all my fault" and that he had confessed and wanted an early trial.

Wagener also produced a letter to McClelland's foster father telling about forging a $125 check on him while in prison. Wagener said a "prison guard got into trouble" in connection with the forged check. This 1949 letter was intercepted by prison officials.

At the end of Thursday's session, Judge Harry Spencer expressed hope that the trial could be concluded Friday and submitted to the jury. The defense indicated it may be ready early Friday to rest its case.

Rambling Runaway Truck Scatters Motorists, Pedestrians In Omaha

OMAHA (U)—Pedestrians and motorists scattered Thursday when the brakes failed on a loaded semitrailer truck, causing it to hurtle nine blocks through the Omaha business district.

A pickup truck and two cars were damaged, but pedestrians, hearing the rumbling runaway vehicle, scrambled to safety. No one was hurt seriously.

Victor Jensen, 31, Rising City, who stayed with the big truck, said it carried 6,000 pounds of butter and 2,000 pounds of other weight.

Police said the vehicle side-swiped an eastbound pickup truck driven by Alf D. Andersen, 58, Weston, and then spun into an eastbound car of Raymond B. Simondynes, 42, Wahoo. The third car hit was driven by Lloyd Telle, Elkhorn.

"I came close to a lot of pedestrians," Jensen said. "I ran one red light but the pedestrians heard me and backed out of the way." He estimated his speed at times to "a good 40 to 45 miles per hour."

"I kept revving my engine to build up air" in the brakes, he said. "I finally got the job done down on the level." He halted the truck in a bus zone.

Police officers commended Jensen for "good heady driving," then booked him for having a faulty vehicle.

A Dedicated Man

When American Author Ernest Hemingway was notified that he had won the Nobel Prize for Literature, he gave voice to a most revealing remark. He said that had he been voting, the award would have gone to Carl Sandburg.

"He is a dedicated man."

Most Americans will share Mr. Hemingway's obvious respect for Sandburg's contribution to literature, particularly Sandburg's six volumes on Lincoln. Only a deeply dedicated man would have given 10 years of his life to study and research—the time Sandburg expended in his study of the martyred President—seeking to fill out the unknown gaps of information which defied the efforts of all other Lincoln students.

But that in no way detracts from Hemingway's contributions to literature. His selection for the Nobel Prize was well deserved, a selection based upon an impressive record of achievement in the enrichment of the world's literature.

Welcoming The Teachers

Each year at this time Nebraska's teachers in the public school system gather for their annual convention at designated district points in the state.

It is an event to which the teachers look forward, lifting them out of the routine atmosphere of the classroom and providing them with the opportunity to broaden their own horizons. The program arranged for their sessions this year lends emphasis to that phase of education. Among the speakers the teachers are privileged to hear is Carlos Romulo, who has contributed so much to his own beloved Philippines and at the same time has been a dependable, challenging figure in the field of international affairs. He is now head of his country's delegation to the United Nations, a warm friend of free peoples and a staunch American neighbor. Among other speakers the teachers heard was Robert A. Vogeler, an American business man who was imprisoned by the Hungarian Communist government for more than two years.

Education is not complete today when excluded from the undercurrents which are shaping the world at this time.

These teachers who give so much of themselves to youth will return to their tasks refreshed and inspired. They are indeed welcome guests of Nebraska's capital city.

Still Another 'First'

Earlier in the week a portion of the press enthusiastically proclaimed a televised cabinet meeting as a "first" in American history. Certainly there was nothing about it deserving of criticism. It was new, novel, and in individual cases possibly contributed to information. Billed as a report to the nation, most people, we are quite sure, were able to discriminate between that portion of the program of partisan tinge and the remainder which rested on sound ground in the development of bipartisan foreign policy.

Early Wednesday at a press conference, Mr. Eisenhower had reached no decision with reference to a quick stumping trip through four states where congressional contests were reported to be close. His chief interest, he indicated at the press conference, was in the reported apathy of the voters and if he made the trip, it would permit him to stir them up. He ventured the opinion that the reported apathy could be attributed to a general satisfaction with the administration's achievements.

In between sunup and sundown, the President must have gotten some bad news. He was taking to the stump. No one takes to the stump when the voters are satisfied with the record. Men take to the stump only when there are doubts in their minds about the course of things.

Mr. Eisenhower will visit Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky and Rhode Island in an effort to pull the chestnuts out of the fire. His decision projects another "first." Never before in American history has any President, Republican or Democrat, injected himself into a mid-term congressional campaign to the degree Mr. Eisenhower has. In 1898 the late William McKinley made a most subdued, indirect appeal for a Republican Congress. Nearly a quarter of a century passed before another President undertook to do so—the late Woodrow Wilson—who appealed for a Democratic Congress slightly more than a week in advance of the armistice in November of 1918. Mr. Eisenhower is establishing another "first"—either in response to appeals of desperation by party leaders or because of the pressures applied to him by members of his own party in Congress. He has been forced into a position that is a far cry from his own personally expressed wishes of the late summer.

The President may discover that the apathy which has excited his curiosity is not what he has been told it was.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

In Omaha at a political rally, Rep. Carl Curtis of the First Nebraska District confidently predicted a Republican sweep in the election next Tuesday in Nebraska for the two posts at stake in the United States Senate, the four House seats and all the state offices from top to bottom. He may be right. Political prophecy is slightly out of the line of duty in this column. But Mr. Curtis' bland self-assurance is unusual. So long as we can remember, in the closing days of a campaign it has been his practice to run scared.

There is one issue—incidentally an issue which Mr. Curtis raised himself as chairman of a House subcommittee inquiring into social security—which he should clarify in preference to speculating upon the outcome of next Tuesday's election. Mr. Curtis should enlighten Nebraska voters with respect to his own individual views on social security. He aroused a great deal of misgiving — a misgiving shared by Republicans and Democrats alike—by what was interpreted widely as criticism of and antagonism to the present program of social security. Mr. Curtis said he was misunderstood. It was not his purpose, he insisted, to discredit social security—all he was undertaking to do was to strengthen it, broaden its benefits while pointing out that it did not conform to sound actuarial requirements. A great many people in the First Nebraska District did not accept Mr. Curtis' explanation. They looked upon him as a critic of social security. Had he chosen to seek re-election to the position he now holds, he might have found the going tough.

Has he changed his mind in reference to the criticisms of social security? Or in pleading for a six-year term in the Senate, are the people of Nebraska, in the event of his election, to understand that most of his time and energy will be devoted to attempting to revise and reorganize the social security program? It is an issue upon which people are entitled to the facts. The great majority of them are affected. They have been paying into social security for years. In the light of his criticism as chairman of the House subcommittee—a position apparently not shared by his Republican colleagues on the committee—a one-man crusade by Mr. Curtis which led nowhere—he should make his present attitude known to his home folks.

His rival for the Senate, seat, former Gov. Keith Neville of North Platte, a solid, substantial, successful business man, has made a distinct contribution in the course of the present campaign, it seem to us. He knows the place of irrigation in Nebraska life. There are few men in the state possessing a more comprehensive, accurate knowledge of a sound program of conservation of natural resources than Keith Neville. He will fight for Nebraska effectively in directing attention to the present policy of the Interior Department with its threat to rural electrification. Mr. Neville is contributing to the future welfare of his own people. Now he tells Nebraskans he has been informed that in the winding up of the affairs of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the bonds outstanding against the Nebraska Public Power System have been sold by the treasury in Washington for 60 cents on the dollar. Why? Ultimately those bonds will have to be retired at face value. If sold at 60 cents on the dollar, why have they been put on the bargain counter?

Mr. Neville has had the experience and possesses the qualifications to serve Nebraskans well.

Ike's New Game

President Eisenhower has taken up scrabble, that word game so many are playing. There has been no official report of his scoring in or of just how much he is enjoying the game. But the St. Louis Post-Dispatch believes he will get lots more fun out of it after election day. Right now those little words like dog, job, farm, speech and parity must give him upsetting thoughts.

Politics Charged In Condon's Case

WASHINGTON — The inside story of how Dr. Edward Condon, the scientist now with Corning Glass, was cleared for security on Tuesday, Oct. 19, but uncleared on Thursday, Oct. 21, is one of the most amazing in Washington.

It was pure politics, plus the long-distance intervention of Vice President Nixon and a phone call by Attorney General Brownell that did it.

Here is a play-by-play account of why the eminent scientist, who, according to Dr. Edward Teller, shortened development of the H-bomb by one year, found himself OK'd one day and out on his ear the next.

As part of the campaign to smear Averell Harriman, now running for governor of New York, the Eisenhower administration has been digging into the files of the Commerce Department to see what security cases he handled while secretary of commerce. And they were all set to spring three or four cases where Harriman might have been lenient with security risks. One of the cases was that of Dr. Edward Condon, director of the Bureau of Standards under Harriman and who was pilloried by the House committee on un-American activities when Vice President Nixon was a member.

There was never any charge that Condon was a Communist but that his wife was indiscreet and that some of his friends were left of center.

Harriman, when secretary of commerce, refused to fire Condon, felt that he was unfairly treated, and flew here from Sun Valley, Idaho, to defend him.

Eventually, however, Condon got tired of being hammered over the head by congressional committees and resigned to take a job with private industry. Since scientists of his calibre are hard to find, he was snapped up by Corning Glass, a staunch Republican outfit, whose former president, Alanson B. Houghton, was appointed ambassador to the Court of St. James by Calvin Coolidge.

The father-in-law of Congressman Sterling Cole of New York, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, is also secretary of Corning Glass and has defended Condon even more than Averell Harriman.

CONDON IS CLEARED

However, Republican National Committee strategy of making a big issue of the Condon case was seriously set back when it became known last week that the Defense Security Board cleared Dr. Condon.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Red Atom Control Offer—Real Change?

UNITED NATIONS —Whether it is merely part of a new strategic approach to the cold war or whether it is indicative of a real change by the triumvirate in the Kremlin in Moscow, Andrei Vishinsky has been busily spreading sweetness and light during this session of the United Nations assembly.

It comes a little oddly from the vitriol-tongued head of the Russian delegation who was the prosecutor in the Stalin purge trials of 1937. But he is doing his best, the latest move being an agreement to join in a Canadian proposal to reactivate the five-power disarmament commission.

But earlier Vishinsky did make a pronouncement that seemed to be a step in the direction of the kind of international control over atomic armaments on which the United States has insisted since the first Baruch-Acheson-Lillenthal proposal nearly eight years ago. The Russian delegate indicated that his government would not oppose a system of inspection by an international control body empowered to go anywhere in any country in order to supervise the peaceful operation of atomic installations.

Since this would mean that an international inspection team could move at will across the Iron Curtain, theoretically at least it is a remarkable concession. With due caution, the deputy director of the American delegation at the U.N., James J. Wadsworth, greeted it as a hopeful step forward.

But Vishinsky also made it plain that his government was not willing to go the whole way with an inspection system such as the United States first put forward. Russia will not accept corrective action imposed by a control authority on the finding of a violation of the atomic control agreement. This gets to the heart of the matter inasmuch as inspection without the power of punishment is of comparatively little value.

Wadsworth took his first opportunity to say that the United States stands willing to accept corrective action if a violation is found. This means, of course, the surrender by this country, as by every country signing such an agreement, of a degree of sovereignty.

That was spelled out in the Baruch proposal on atomic control which the Russians finally rejected after prolonged negotiations in a special U.N. Atomic Control Commission. Wadsworth stresses that the position of the delegation today gives away no more and no less of American sovereignty than did the initial

The security board, of course, did not realize they were pin-pricking one of the carefully inflated balloons in the GOP campaign. In fact, they acted last summer though the news leaked out only last week.

Vice President Nixon was given this bad news while campaigning in the Far West and immediately hit the ceiling. He demanded that the Condon security clearance be reversed.

Simultaneously, Attorney General Brownell telephoned secretary of the Navy Charles Thomas. He gave instructions that the security cloud over Dr. Condon's head must be put back where it was.

At that time, believe it or not, Secretary of the Navy Thomas didn't even know Dr. Condon had been cleared. In fact, he knew nothing at all about the matter. He didn't know, among other things, that the Corning Glass Company had asked that Dr. Condon have access to classified material; nor did he know that this was put up to the Army-Navy-Air Force Security Board, which turned down the request on Feb. 10, 1953. Condon then appealed.

Meanwhile, the security system had been changed, and three special boards were set up, according to geographic regions, to handle security matters concerning industrial plants. Thus Condon's appeal reached the Eastern Regional Security Board in July, 1953, which took one full year—until July, 1954, to act. The board made a most thorough investigation, and in the end Dr. Condon was cleared.

CONDON IS UNCLEARED

This news, however, was not published until last week on Oct. 19 and it did not reach the Secretary of the Navy until Attorney General Brownell, former chairman of the Republican Committee and ex-campaign manager for Dewey, phoned to ask why the Navy was clearing a man who was about to figure in the campaign against Averell Harriman.

At this point, Secretary Thomas sent for the file on Dr. Condon. The file is so voluminous that it weighs about 10 pounds. It goes into every phase of his life. It is so voluminous that the Eastern Regional Security Board took one year to act.

Yet the Secretary of the Navy acted in a little over 24 hours. In that short period he supposedly was able to review thousands of pages and order the regional board reversed.

No Tricks To These Treats For Others

By MONA B. PARKER

Arapahoe youngsters will be donning the role of good samaritans along with their goblin outfits and witch masks this Halloween. Instead of tricks or treats in their own behalf, their plan is to request coins from the people behind the doorbells, coins which will go into an emergency fund of the United Nations to provide milk, medicine and other needed supplies for the needy children in foreign lands. The kind-hearted elves will carry proper identification along with them from door to door.

Small wonder that little boys like to play cowboys and Indians, according to the "Farmer's Wife" in the Nebraska Signal. She knows that leaves should not be burned, but piled and saved as a future soil builder. But a bonfire makes her think of campfires and as dry corn leaves rustle in the wind, it takes little imagination to see an Indian chief skulking a long through the field on moccasined feet.

"Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn . . . The sheep's in the meadow, the cow's in the corn . . ." Douglas Nelson was the little boy, but he wasn't snoozing under a haystack. He was sound asleep in the cornfield while frantic parents and the Sargent fire department were looking for him. Mrs. Nelson searched two hours in vain for the 18-month-old wanderer, but the firemen found him in a few minutes time.

Columnist Marie Schaab, writing in the Gretna Breeze, was bemoaning the absence of an annual delicacy that so far has proven to be a victim of the drought. Alas, says she, no cider. The apple man was having difficulty enough in supplying his customers with the whole fruit which is somewhat in shortage, but was hoping for enough small fruit within a few weeks to make the fall beverage. "So the hilltoppers" and their friends drove away disappointed, but crunching at autumn's favorite fruit. The apples were red and juicy, but cider still lurks in the mental appetite."

Much has been said in the news columns of late about the naming of hurricanes and such, and the apparent logic of those names being feminine, but R. A. Summers has this cautious comment in the Utica Sun that sums up his feeling about all big blows: "We have been hearing a lot about Hurricane Hazel . . . We do not care to get well enough acquainted with hurricanes, tornadoes, or cyclones to call them by name."

The Columbus Telegram seemed a little premature, but perhaps was doing its Christmas commenting early to be on a par with wise and unburied shoppers. Editor Loomis read somewhere that Christmas trees allowed to stand in a pail of water sweetened with a cup of sugar will retain freshness for many days longer. He wants some of the Telegram readers to try it and report results back to him after the holidays are over.

It seemed a long way from Christmas in Lyons where Mrs. Helen Lubash found three violets in bloom in her yard . . . And in Central City a lilac bush belonging to Charles Leach has burst forth with blossoms for the second time this year, presenting an odd contrast to autumn colors with its springlike appearance.

The Ravenna News describes it as an unusual corn-picking year. Droughty corn is dry, but some other kinds are not—which leads to the fact that while some farmers have finished with their corn-picking, others have yet to begin.

The Friend Sentinel came to the staunch defense of the state as "land that tilts on edge to make mountains" came in for its share of press raves for autumn scenery while that which Nebraska has to offer goes by unnoticed. From Friend to Beaver Crossing there was beauty to be seen, in tree foliage of bronze, gold and yellow, shading to mauve and purple. And, adds the Sentinel in practical tone: "Nebraska lies flat so as to have bread for the nation growing between its beautiful trees."

Basis For Election

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Election day will be here soon, and a very important election day it will be. As everyone knows, Communist roots run deep. The Reds are working to take over our government from within, and many of their sympathizers are still buried deep in the government. Party names don't mean much nowadays. It's a question basically of doing what we can to preserve our form of government and may all good men come to the aid of their country rather than party. We should screen the candidates on what they stand for, what they have accomplished, how clean are their hands. Our last line of defense may depend on the type of persons we elect to the Senate and House for the next two years.

So whether the Congress turns up with a Democratic or Republican majority does not much matter. What we want is a majority of sound old-fashioned Americans who vote pro-American and anti-Communist.

Away From The Party

Anselmo, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Republicans, it seems, are pinning their only hope on President Eisenhower. They realize it was his personality that brought them into office after 20 years. We always wish to honor our war heroes in every way, but often discover that a real military man is not trained as a statesman.

The common people are breaking away from party rule. There was a time when they followed their leaders — anything for their party (or the party of their fathers or grandfathers), but now they do some thinking for themselves. They observe how their officials vote after they put them in office. Are they really interested in the common people, or special private enterprises?

One small business man recently was complaining about his heavy income tax. He was not pleased by the returning of $206 million in taxes to General Motors. Another business man had picked a Democrat as his candidate, and both of these men had supported Eisenhower. Two of my neighbors sold out and went to California. Both are back and out of work now. One said he was voting Democratic although he had never done so before. Well, they tell us wise people change their minds.

Full Acceptance U.N. May Take Years Says Romulo

Dr. Reavis Criticizes 'Ultra-Progressive' Educators

OMAHA (U)—Gen. Carlos Romulo says it may be many generations before the United Nations is fully accepted, but in its nine short years, the organization has undertaken tremendous tasks which have benefited humanity.

The Philippine general, speaking in Omaha, at the District II Nebraska Education Association convention, Thursday said people expect miracles of the United Nations and they shouldn't.

'Much Blame Unwarranted'
The colorful statesman admitted that the UN had many faults and shortcomings and was far from perfect. And he agreed it would be many years before these defects would be eliminated. But, he said, much of the blame and criticism being heaped on the UN is unwarranted.

"People have the misconception," he declared, "that the United Nations' task is to make peace, but that is not its duty. Nowhere in the charter is there anything which gives the UN the goal of establishing peace."

John Dewey, who is credited as one of the founders of "progressive" educational methods was not so "progressive-minded" as many think, Dr. George H. Reavis said.

'Twisted Philosophies'
Dr. Reavis, educational counselor for Field Enterprises Inc., and a former student of Dr. Dewey, told the meeting:

"The 'progressive' educators' greatly abused the things Prof. Dewey said. They misinterpreted him, and twisted his philosophies around to suit their own ideas."

Dr. Reavis quarreled with the "ultra-progressive" pedagogy who, he said, "think you can teach children without having them learn something." You can no more do that "than you can sell something without somebody buying something."

He praised President Eisenhower's proposals that today's weapons and knowledge of the world be molded into peacetime efforts. About 1,500 registered for the convention here.

TV, Movies Declared Part Of Education

NORFOLK, Neb. (U)—Television, movies and radio today are definitely as much a part of the education of boys and girls as reading and writing were in yesteryears, District III members of the Nebraska State Education Association were told Thursday.

The speaker was Dr. Francis W. Noel, chief of the bureau of audiovisual education in California.

Educators are "just scratching the surface" in the use of television, movies and radio, and their value as aids to education is unlimited, he declared.

They must be used to augment the three R's and vice versa, Dr. Noel added.

More than 1,700 teachers registered for the convention here.

PTA Supports Minor Liquor Law For State

OMAHA (U)—The board of managers of the Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers has voted to give its support to a law prohibiting minors from selling or serving alcoholic beverages.

The board also added to its legislative program support for a state sales tax or income tax or both. The proposal the board backs would provide that approximately 50 per cent of the tax money be earmarked for common schools.

Support was also voted for measures that would improve procedures in juvenile courts and strengthen child welfare and safety measures.

Reaffirmed was a recommendation that school lands be retained in trust forever, that laws against obscene literature be strengthened and that state penalties against sellers of narcotics be brought into line with national laws and maximum penalties for sales to minors.

Only Few States Minus Minor Law

According to the attorney general's office, Nebraska is one of the few states in the nation which has no state law governing the sale or serving of alcoholic beverages by minors.

Many Nebraska cities, such as Lincoln, have city ordinances which bar minors from selling or serving alcoholic beverages.

A spokesman for the attorney general said most states have some state provisions governing the employment of minors in bars and taverns.

Wesleyan Plans Musical Review

The Nebraska Wesleyan University marching band will present "A Half Century Review of Music," as the traditional homecoming half-time show Friday night.

Prof. Robert Marshall will lead his 30 piece organization through the musical highlights with the use of band formations, action, props, script and music appropriate to the various years.

During the course of the show, the band will form four crosses in a salute to World War I dead, a piano and an hour glass.

The latter formation will be used as part of the theme introducing the "W" club sweetheart.

Announcement of the winners of homecoming house decorations and introduction of homecoming attendants — eight from Wesleyan and eight from Hastings — will also be featured during the half-time show.

PHIL WEAVER

REPUBLICAN FOR

CONGRESS

FIRST DISTRICT

- ★ Native Nebraskan and Graduate of the University of Nebraska
- ★ Successful Business Man and Administrator
- ★ Overseas Combat Veteran with Airborne Troops
- ★ Father of Four Sons

Being from a farm community, Phil Weaver knows agriculture and understands the problems of the farmer. He is unwilling to see a return of the conditions wherein farmers' income plunged to postwar lows under the Truman Administration in 1949 and 1950. In Congress, he will fight to see that Nebraska's farmers receive their fair share of the national income.

Citing the fact that reduced budget appropriations in the last two years have meant a saving of $1,600 for the average Nebraska family, Phil Weaver believes that your taxes can be reduced even more. He will fight for the right of the people of the First District to keep their hard-earned money right here at home.

In the primary election, in which Phil Weaver carried every one of the 26 counties in the First District, Falls City and Richardson County folks supported Phil by a margin of nearly 6-1 over his nearest opponent.

University System Aid To Medical Advance—Hardin

OMAHA (U)—Use of the American university system has enabled medical education to advance rapidly in the past 40 years, University of Nebraska Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin said Thursday.

"All of us — the members of your profession, the medical educators and the general public — can give thanks for the vision which prescribed marriage and not divorce for medical education and the university system," he said at an Omaha Midwest Clinical Society meeting here.

"It is a union which has enabled us to utilize rapidly the benefits of fundamental research in medical education."

Encouraged By Help

Dr. Hardin said he is encouraged by the medical profession's willingness to assist with the adjustment which medical schools are making in their programs to shift the emphasis from medical facts to medical principles.

A generation or two ago a medical student might have been able to learn most of the known facts about medicine.

"Such an objective now is impractical for the simple reason that it is unattainable," he said.

"Our store of medical knowledge has increased so rapidly that the student in a four-year period of medical training cannot become a master of it. Even if he could, the schools of medicine could not obtain a sufficient number of qualified people to teach him in either the basic or clinical areas."

"We need to encourage medical trainees to appreciate their own abilities, to develop their natural interest in medicine, to satisfy their curiosity in research and study, and to see themselves as full-fledged members of human society."

Bell Asks For New Rate Slate

Northwestern Bell Telephone Company Thursday asked the Railway Commission for a new schedule of rates for Boelus, Dannebrog and Farwell when the area is converted to dial service next year.

The new proposed rates would be somewhat higher than the present schedule for basic one-exchange area service where a subscriber pays a higher optional rate in order to call more than one exchange in the area without toll charge.

4 Nebraskans Honored For Church Work

SALINA, Kas. (U)—Four Nebraskans were among 22 rural church lay leaders honored at the national convocation on the Church in Town and Country.

Nominated by their various denominations, they were cited by the Department of the Town and Country Church of the National Council of Churches, which sponsors the convocation.

The citations were "in recognition of those many thousands of rural people who exalt Christ through Christian family life, through Christian relations in politics and business, and whose services and support keep the town and country churches functioning effectively."

The Nebraskans honored and their denominations are: Everett Barr, Liberty, United Presbyterian; Charles M. Mulford, Stuart, Presbyterian U.S. A.; Christian R. Frankhauser, Dawson, and Ernest Welsch, Milford, both Evangelical and Reformed.

Drive Under Way To Protest Halt Of CBS Contract

HOLDREGE, Neb. (U)—The South Platte United Chambers of Commerce has appealed to residents of the KHOL-TV area to protest a decision by the Columbia Broadcasting System to cancel its contract with the station.

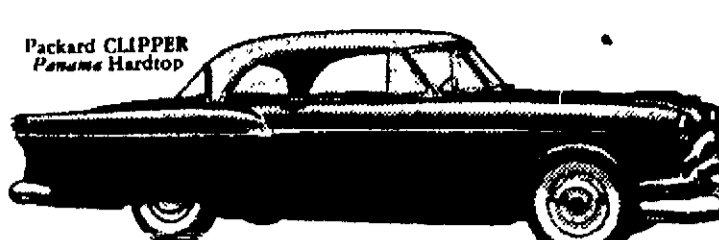

A notice to Chamber members over the signature of three officers, asked that personally written postcards be sent to the station, protesting the action, by Friday.

Oran King of Superior, SPUCC president, Roy Lenwell, McCook, vice president, and Bobb Kammerer, Holdrege, secretary, signed the notice.

Chamber secretaries also were asked to contact television merchants urging them to, in turn, urge their customers to protest.

A Lady In Distress

In the first place Mrs. Morrisson, as any wife would and should be, has her eye on Tuesday, Nov. 2 when the voters decide whether her next move will be to Washington, D. C. or back to McCook. While this is indeed something to have on one's mind, it wouldn't be quite so bad if she could devote all of Tuesday to biting her nails — but she can't.

As you can see in the picture Mrs. Morrisson is dividing her moments between packing and checking lists — but the traveling case is bound neither for Washington nor McCook — but for Omaha.

And it is in Omaha that Mrs. Morrisson will be all day on Tuesday as voters from the first district trek into the various voting booths in a variety of towns— You see—Mrs. Morrisson was notified a few days ago that the Grand Jury convenes in Omaha on Monday, Nov. 1 — and Mrs. Morrisson not only serves on the jury — she is its foreman — and the first woman ever to hold such responsibility.

Now — will the jury, for some reason or other, recess early on Tuesday? Will it be kept until late in the afternoon — on into the evening? Will she be able to get even a minimum amount of information as to how the voting is going? Must she stay in Omaha all of Tuesday evening, or will she be able to join Mr. Morrisson at some strategic point to listen to the returns? Mrs. Morrisson must wait until Tuesday for all of the answers.

Then — in addition to having a husband in a hectic campaign, there are three young Morrissons back home in McCook. Are they getting along all right? Do they still have the normal number of fingers, toes and teeth?

While Mrs. Morrisson does considerable checking on the home fires and how they are burning, she really has no serious doubts concerning the three children. They have been left in exceedingly good hands.

The Star Welcomes

Believe it or not, there are only three more weeks until Thanksgiving; and only eight more weeks until Christmas. There are so many families that will be spending the holiday season in Lincoln for the first time, and to all of them The Star extends a warm welcome.

The coming holiday season will be a first in two ways for Mr. and Mrs. Dietrick P. Frye. Not only will it be their first Christmas in Lincoln, but it also will be their first Christmas together. The Frys were just married in the middle of October. Originally, the Frys are from Martell, which is just a few miles south of Lincoln. While Mr. Frye, who is associated with a local printing company in Lincoln, is busy at his work, Mrs.

Frye is equally well occupied getting settled in their new home at 140 So. 30th. When the moving process is done, Mrs. Frye will practice her new cooking skills.

From Hutchinson, Kan., comes the Charles M. Lentz family. Lt. (jg) Lentz is with the naval base that is with the Lincoln Air Force Base. Although Hutchinson was their last station before coming to Lincoln, the Lentzes call Kansas City their home town. Lt. Lentz at the moment is getting acquainted with his new duties and Mrs. Lentz is as busy moving as a beaver getting the new home at 2601 B in order. House work is not the only thing that keeps Mrs. Lentz on the hop, skip and jump. Linda Gay—who is just three, and young eight-month-old Richard get their share of attention also. When they have any spare time, the two adult members of the family hope to continue with their favorite pastime—bowling.

Alumnae Plan Program

The alumnae of Sigma Alpha Iota music sorority will meet Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ollie Roehmer for a program of music.

Chairman of the hostess committee will be Miss Betty Vlasnik who will be assisted by Mrs. Minnie Adams, Mrs. Annie Rosborough, Miss Margaret Klinker, Miss Frances Morley and Miss Ruth Dreamer.

Country Kates Hold Meeting

The members of the Country Kates Extension Club met last Friday at the home of Mrs. D. Luebke. Following the program, "When We Entertain," given by Mrs. Luebke and Mrs. John Rockenbach, refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Thursday, Nov. 4, at the home of Mrs. Fred Faulhaber.

NARY A GOBLIN

IT'S ABOUT time for the goblins to begin their annual pilgrimage, and while we have nothing in particular against goblins we do hope they stay far away from the stadium until after game time on Saturday— But one thing for sure, we never worry about goblins, gremlins or any other unpleasant ghouls in the news—we talk about only pleasant matters—

SUCH AS, for instance, the cruise that Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Potter have planned—Mr. and Mrs. Potter will leave Lincoln in time to spend Thanksgiving with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Potter—and from there will go to Galveston, Tex., to be the Christmas guests of another son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Potter.

Then, on Jan. 7, the Potters set sail for their four months cruise to South America.

ALSO coming under the heading of "pleasant" is the news that Dr. and Mrs. Earl Farnsworth, formerly of Grand Island, and now of Pasadena, Calif., will be in town this week-end. Dr. and Mrs. Farnsworth are making Hotel Cornhusker their headquarters while visiting old Lincoln friends — Incidentally — their granddaughter, Miss Barbara Farnsworth—is attending the University of Nebraska, and resides with her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Frank Boehmer, and her great-grandmother, Mrs. I. G. Chapin.

HEAR that Mr. and Mrs. J. Earle Foster and Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Woodruff will share guests from Kansas City this week-end — Coming for the game and the week-end will be Mr. and Mrs. Jack Foster and Mr. and Mrs. Ford Foster.

Preceding Saturday's game there will be a family luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club, and on Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. J. Earle Foster will be a dinner host and hostess at the University Club, complimenting the visitors.

On Sunday morning Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff will entertain the family at a brunch at their home.

SOMEONE told us that Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hawkins will be coming from Omaha to spend the game week-end as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Walker and Miss Helen Hall who will honor the guests with a dinner at their home on Saturday evening.

ALSO heard that Mr. and Mrs. Bill Anderson of Plainville Kan., are coming to be the week-end house guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Bastian.

FRIDAY night arrivals will be Mr. and Mrs. William Schwartz of Casper, Wyo., who are combining business with pleasure during their stay in Lincoln. Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz (Ann Phillips—Kappa Alpha Theta at Nebraska) will be the house guests of Mrs. Schwartz's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phillips.

Following Saturday's game the guests, who return home early next week, will be honored at a no host dinner.

OUR PARTY calendar is interesting this morning, we think — We find there are two Sunday courtesies for Miss Snooky Coryell and her fiancé, Lt. Richard Claussen whose marriage will be solemnized on Tuesday evening, Nov. 2, at the First Presbyterian Church.

The first is a luncheon for which Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Stewart will be host and hostess at their home when they entertain just members of the families—

And on Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. B. I. Noble of Littleton, Colo., will preside at a dinner at Hotel Cornhusker, complimenting the soon-to-be bride and Lt. Claussen.

ON Monday evening the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. L. L. Coryell, Jr., will honor her daughter and Lt. Claussen when she entertains at dinner at the University club. The guest list will include members of the bridal party, and the families.

JUST this moment learned that Miss Joan Krueger, former member of The Lincoln Star editorial staff, is sailing for home this week after spending a year in Paris where she studied at the Sorbonne on a scholarship. Miss Krueger is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, and a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

Deborah Avery. Daughters of the American Revolution, 10 o'clock board meeting at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Lincoln Woman's Club American home department, 9:45 o'clock at the YWCA for bus trip to Minden's Pioneer Village.

Opti-Mrs. Club, 10 o'clock to 12 o'clock coffee at the home of Mrs. Hugh Thorne, 3045 Georgian Ct.

Alpha Phi Alumnae, morning coffee at the home of Mrs. Robert Durrie.

AFTERNOON

Lincoln Woman's Club mental hygiene department, noon luncheon at the YWCA.

Friendship Club, 1 o'clock dessert luncheon at the home of Mrs. W. B. Ault, 340 So. 44th.

Outlook Club, 1 o'clock luncheon at the home of Mrs. F. R. Woodring, 870 So. 36th.

AAUW literature group, 2 o'clock at the home of Miss Jessie McCallum, 1300 No. 46th.

OF MORE than casual interest this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Hord of Alliance and Central City, of the engagement of their daughter, Sara Geraldine (Gerdi) to Stanley Heath, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Heath of Del Mar, Calif.

A June wedding is planned.

Miss Hord has attended Brownell Hall, Omaha; Mills College, Oakland, Calif., and now is a junior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Mr. Heath attended the University of Wisconsin, where he is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon, and was graduated from the University of Nevada where he was selected for All American football honors. Mr. Heath recently completed his fifth year as quarterback with the Canadian Calgary Stampede, a professional football team.

Sara Geraldine Hord

The Brides' Book Says:

For her marriage to Airman 1/c Gerald G. Smith, which will take place Saturday morning, Oct. 30, at St. Mary's Cathedral, Miss Kathryn McGinley has chosen her sister, Miss Susan McGinley, as her maid of honor and only attendant. Serving as best man at the service, which will be solemnized in the presence of the members of the family, will be Otto McGinley, Jr., brother of the bride-elect.

In pre-nuptial courtesy to the couple, a dinner for the members of the family will be held Friday evening, preceding the rehearsal at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Day will entertain Wednesday evening at dinner at the University Club honoring Miss Glenna Mae Lindberg and her fiancé, Paul R. Bieberstein, whose marriage will take place at 4 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, Oct. 31, at the Lutheran Church in Saroville. The guest list will include only the members of the family.

Included among recent courtesies for Miss Lindberg was the miscellaneous shower for which Mrs. Brinkman, aunt of the bride-elect, was hostess to a small group at her home.

Miss Gloria Schriber, who will become the bride of Airman 1/c Robert Patterson on Saturday, Nov. 6, will be an honoree on Monday evening when Mrs. A. Nevin will entertain at a 7:30 o'clock dessert supper at her home. During the evening, a personal shower will be presented to the bride-to-be.

Also in courtesy to Miss Schriber was the miscellaneous shower held last week for which Mrs. Emma D. Schriber, Mrs. John Michael, Mrs. Charles Nightingale and Mrs. Arthur Parks were co-hostesses at the America Forward Hall.

Club Marks UN Week

Members of the Soroptimist International Club of Lincoln met Wednesday evening at the Hotel Cornhusker for their annual United Nations observance and dinner.

Guest speaker was Miss Ellen Sabin, a sophomore student at the University of Nebraska who is majoring in recreational leadership. A former tour guide at United Nations headquarters in New York City, Miss Sabin spoke on, "United Nations, You and Education," in which she outlined the principles and structures of the six branches of the UN, and told of the services of the American Association for the United Nations and their meaning to the citizens of the United States.

A guest of the club for the evening was Miss Olivia Hansen, director of counseling and social activities for the women's resident halls at the University of Nebraska.

Arrangements of laurel, the United Nations insignia and which also forms part of the club's insignia, and white chrysanthemums centered the dinner tables, and forming the place-cards were miniature coats-of-arms of the member nations of the UN.

This Group Sews For Charity

Charity, so someone said, begins at home, and in this instance the home was that of Mrs. J. A. Howell, 1801 Sunnyhill Rd., where 10 members of the Officers Wives Club met on Thursday morning to sew. The articles, including clever aprons, Christmas stockings, and numerous other things that will catch the eye, were not stitched by loving hands for personal use. The group had another idea.

Each month the Officers Wives Club has a luncheon meeting, and it is the forthcoming meeting upon which the 10 pictured members have their eyes—They also plan to hold out their hands in which is to be dropped good, cold cash in exchange for these Christmas gadgets upon which the 10 members are so furiously working—

The cash, however, is not for personal use, either—it is to go into a charity—the nature of which will be decided by the club.

But in the picture, devoting a full morning-plus to hemming, embroidering, and a variety of fancy stitches are:

Year One Of Progress For Lincoln General

Auditor's Report Is Reviewed

The fiscal period 1953-54 was a year of progress for Lincoln General Hospital as proclaimed by its board of trustees after reviewing the annual report of the auditor.

The trustees pointed out that during the year, Lincoln General was approved by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. The Hospital School of Nursing, it was noted, was also successful in its attempt to become fully accredited by the National League for Nursing.

Lincoln General's was the third school of nursing in the state to receive full accreditation.

The auditor's report showed a net loss by the hospital before depreciation of $6,301 for the 1954-55 fiscal year. The net loss last year before depreciation was $3,967.

Depreciation during the past year was set at $30,302.99 while it was $29,103 for the preceding year.

Total hospital expenses were up this past year to $988,539 as compared to $945,644 the preceding year. One big increase in expense was a jump from $17,700 last year to $25,000 this year in uncollected accounts.

Also, the operation of the School of Nursing was $9,500 greater this year over last due to the increased enrollment of students and better educational facilities. Nursing care costs were also up $32,000 because of increases in the standards of nursing care.

Total patient revenue dropped $18,500 as the result of a drop in total patient days. Patient days this year were 47,348 as compared to 51,647 last year.

A patient day is counted for every 24 hours a patient is in the hospital.

This decreased revenue left total income for the Hospital this year of $982,238 as compared to $970,780 the previous year.

Expenditures from the Emily J. Moore trust fund for charity cases went up sharply to $46,400 this year as compared to $17,200 the year before.

Local Car-Nappers Heap Insult On Top Of Injury

It was bad enough for Dr. R. P. Marshall when thieves stole his car, but the car-nappers added insult to injury when the thieves sent him papers he had left in his stolen vehicle.

Police said the postmark on the letter appeared to be from Springfield, Mo. Police said they suspected a car theft ring.

High School Teachers Opposed To De-Emphasis Of Activities

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

Do not ask the support of Nebraska public school teachers to de-emphasize football or band activities in schools. They are against it.

A sampling of teacher opinion indicates that extra-curricular activities help rather than hinder the student. Juvenile delinquency is curbed by activities, several teachers believe.

Glen Baum, vocational agriculture teacher at DeWitt: "School activities are good because they are under guidance. If the students don't get some activity in school they just wander around in the community. It doesn't hurt the student academically; it is good for him to participate in activities. It's a chance to work the outerness out of him."

Mrs. Martin

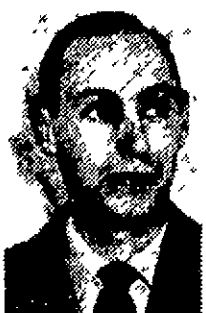

Mrs. C. B. Martin, kindergarten teacher at Geneva: "Most of the average and better students participate in activities. Smaller schools allow a student to engage in more activities. It hasn't hurt them a bit. There is no delinquency here."

C. W. Huell, director of parochial schools of the Lutheran Church at Deshler: "Activities are not over-emphasized in Deshler schools. We have a wonderful band and football team. It is more convenient to schedule activities on weekends. Students take too active a part and ruin the following school day in mid-week activities. Activities are not harmful to the students if they are properly directed."

Huell

L. E. Watson, vocational agriculture teacher at Humboldt: "Activities are a good means for students to take off extra steam. It does not harm the students academically. I find the best students are in activities and they still keep up their subjects. Interest in activities keeps them out of mischief because students don't find entertainment in their homes. We do have some but not much juvenile delinquency in Humboldt."

Watson

Mrs. Wilber Nichols, third grade teacher at Geneva: "I can't see that the athletic program is hurting the students. It has been a custom to schedule more activities on weekends. Mid-week basketball games are not harmful. I have a daughter in high school and such games do not interfere with her studying. Most of the activities are over by 10 p.m. anyway. Juvenile delinquency is pretty well taken care of here."

'Treats' Turn To Tummyache

Lincoln Star Special AURORA, Neb.—One young Aurora lad is strongly in favor of the plan to collect Halloween "treats" for UNICEF.

After a local mother had explained the plan to a group of gradeschoolers, she asked if there were any questions.

One bright-eyed boy raised his hand and said:

"I think it's a good idea. I always eat everything everybody gives me and I'm always sick the next day."

U.N. Begins Grappling With U.S. Plan To Strengthen United Nation Forces

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U. N. Assembly Political Committee grapples Friday with U.S. proposals to strengthen U.N. forces to meet any future aggression.

After a rare display of unanimity on disarmament procedures, the committee moves on to a subject that has always drawn Soviet bloc criticism. But Western Power delegates foresee another huge majority rolled up on the question of collective security.

The 14-nation Collective Measures Committee, established under the Truman-Acheson "united for peace" program in 1950, will be continued for at least another year, observers here believed.

An Eisenhower administration touch added to the Truman-Acheson plan—a proposal that U.N. members contribute political, economic or financial support when they can't furnish men to a U.N. force resisting aggression—will be sponsored by a dozen countries and is assured of quick passage, observers here believed.

First Negro

Charles A. Mahoney, Detroit lawyer and insurance company executive, will serve in the committee for the United States. First Negro appointed as a full delegate in the U.S. delegation, he will be the first to carry a major program through the Assembly's main political committee.

Debate in the committee on the collective measures question will include President Eisenhower's atom-for-peace plan.

Chief U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. will handle that subject, the first big job of the session for him. He has appeared heretofore only on important procedural discussions in the Steering Committee and the Assembly.

The Collective Measures Committee reported to the Assembly that it has abandoned the idea on setting up a U.N. legion or other separate U.N. army as once envisaged.

Even the Truman-Acheson plan once considered having U.N. members to set aside units of their own armies to be subject to call for service in any future U.N. "police force."

The Russians scoffed at this idea from the first.

In a working paper offered the committee last August and recommended by the committee to the Assembly, U.S. Delegate James L. Wadsworth proposed a five-point program that represented Eisenhower administration modifications of the collective measures program.

It called for as much help as possible in every field from every U.N. member, including logistic support, and activity by regional defense organizations to uphold the charter.

Even Gina Is Impressed

The decorated chest of actor Friedrich Lebebur draws a "wow" look from Italian actress Gina Lollobrigida during a tour of the Elstree cinema studios near London. Lebebur plays the role of the Indian "Queequeg" in the film Moby Dick. A Lincoln resident 45 years, she was a member of First Methodist Church.

Hanson Denies Sending Letter

Lyman R. Hanson, Wahoo, secretary-treasurer of the Nebraska Association of Commissioners, Supervisors and Highway Commissioners, denied Thursday that he sent out a letter to members quoting the official voting records of Rep. Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska, now seeking election to the U.S. Senate.

"I am not for or against anyone," Hanson said, saying that to his knowledge the association has taken no position on individual candidates and mailed no letters.

The letter says that the officials "owe a duty to the taxpayers" to oppose the two Republican candidates because they voted for laws that reduced the farm income of the state 7½ per cent.

The letter also states, Hanson said, that the two Republicans voted to lower appropriations for REA and soil conservation and for "give-away" of Tidelands oil at a loss to the schools of the state of $71,000,000.

The letter praises the two Democratic nominees for the Senate, Keith Neville and James Green, according to Hanson.

Highway 30 Delegation Confers With Gov. Crosby, Ress

A delegation interested in promoting travel on U.S. Highway 30 across Nebraska conferred with Gov. Crosby and State Engineer L. N. Ress about the possibility of eliminating the "U.S. 30 Alternate" marking between Omaha and Clarks.

U.S. 30 crosses the Missouri River at Blair and passes through Fremont, Schuyler and Columbus before reaching the "U.S. 30A" connection at Clarks.

U.S. 30A passes through Wahoo and Omaha on the Nebraska side, and through Council Bluffs on the Iowa side, connecting with U.S. 30 at Missouri Valley, Ia., several miles north of Council Bluffs.

Elimination of the U.S. 30 alternate marking thus would have the effect of taking Omaha, Wahoo and Council Bluffs off of a route with the U.S. 30 tag.

Members of the group conferring with the governor and state engineer included William Lux, president of the Highway 30 Association, and R. F. Kennedy, Columbus newspaper man.

They said elimination of the alternate designation conforms to the recommendation of the route numbering committee of the American Association of State Highway Officials.

They pointed out that between Clarks and Omaha the alternate route follows Highway 92. They explained Highway 92 originates in Illinois, crosses Iowa with the same route number and extends into Nebraska from Omaha to Clarks.

Ress said Thursday he had no comment on the proposal, but that the request would be studied.

Bureau Of Reclamation Opens Office In Ord

ORD, Neb.—The Bureau of Reclamation has opened an office in Ord with headquarters in the Baily Building. At present, 10 engineers will headquarter in Ord.

The crew will be engaged in surveying the Mira Valley and other areas nearby which are encompassed in the Twin-Valleys Reclamation District.

Housing Shortage

TOKYO 28 — Nine years after World War II Japan still is short 3,125,000 houses, says a white paper of the Construction Ministry. This shortage persists despite the fact that Japan has rebuilt 3,690,000 homes since the guns ceased firing, the Ministry reports. One thing that has prevented a better job of erasing the ravages of war has been that 2,880,000 dwelling units were lost to fire, flood and old age in that same nine-year period.

Voter To Get Blue Ballot

When Nebraska voters reach for their ballots at next Tuesday's election, they will notice the one on top is blue, deputy secretary of state Roland Luedtke said Thursday.

The last Legislature passed a bill providing that proposed constitutional amendments be printed on blue paper. The same act says that when election officials pass out the ballots at a general election, the one containing the proposed amendments shall be on top.

The idea back of these provisions apparently was that too often the voter overlooks or just doesn't bother about voting on the proposed amendments.

Everything possible thus is being done to make sure that the voter's attention is called to constitutional amendments, Luedtke commented.

Yanks Still Suckers For Old 'Spanish Swindle'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Summerfield said Thursday the old "Spanish swindle," one of the most ancient of all mail frauds, still is being worked in this country.

Summerfield said the Postal Inspection Service estimates that Americans have been losing upwards of $100,000 a year in this confidence game operated from Mexico, in spite of all efforts to stop it.

He reported in a statement that the operators currently appear to be selecting names and addresses from "Who's Who in America" and directories of professional people.

With occasional variations, the racket works like this, Summerfield said:

The intended victim gets a letter from Mexico, from a man "in prison," usually "a banker, who claims he has a large cache of U. S. currency hidden somewhere, and offers to share it if the victim will bring funds into Mexico to get him out of jail."

Summerfield said that $10,000 is the usual sum mentioned, and those who fall for the bait are met upon arrival in Mexico by the swindlers "and relieved of the money by trickery or, if necessary, by physical force."

Beautiful Daughter

The original swindle letter frequently embellishes the proposition by mentioning a beautiful daughter who will act as "intermediary" south of the border.

The postmaster general said it is impossible to say how many Americans have fallen for this, because, he said, "many of those tricked keep their losses to themselves in order to avoid embarrassment."

He said the service has attempted to have the swindlers caught in their own country, but noted that there is no extradition treaty with Mexico on mail fraud cases. Further, he said the Mexican courts have held that the victims are as guilty as the swindlers.

LANDING GEAR FIXED IN AIR

(CHICAGO (INS)) — A stuck landing wheel kept a huge airliner carrying 32 passengers circling Chicago's Midway Airport for more than a half hour Thursday until radioed instructions from the ground fixed the trouble.

The American airlines plane, enroute from Tucson, Ariz., was scheduled to land Thursday morning but when the pilot, Capt. A. M. Wynne of La Grange, Ill., tried to lower the landing gear, the right wheel stayed up.

Wynne circled the field while the ground flight officer was notified by radio.

Following directions, Wynne tried lowering the right side of his ship slightly, the wheel dropped in to place and the plane landed.

Draper Did Not Vote, Denies Dissent Made

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission's approval of the proposed Dixon-Yates contract was given without the vote of Vice Chairman Claude L. Draper, it became known Thursday. However, Draper said he did not dissent.

"When the commission first approved the contract back in August I was not here," Draper told a reporter. "When it came up again in October, I did not concur in the commission's action as I had never read the contract." He added that his action was not a dissent but a lack of concurrence.

Draper commented when asked about a story in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch saying that Draper dissented in a 4-1 opinion by FPC.

Hot Issue
The proposal would have the Dixon-Yates private power combination build a steam plant in Arkansas to supply electricity to the Tennessee Valley Authority's system. This power would replace TVA power used by Atomic Energy Commission plants.

The proposed contract has become a hot political issue. President Eisenhower defended it Wednesday at a news conference, saying the public is perfectly and splendidly protected.

Chairman Jerome K. Kuykendall of FPC said "no comment" when asked about Draper's position. Asked if there was any other commission split, he repeated, "no comment." The commission has five members.

Some Assistance

Kuykendall said the commission staff had been called upon for some technical assistance on the contract some time ago, but he declined to say what the staff position was.

He said that with the AEC, TVA and Budget Bureau actively involved in the Dixon-Yates matter "and the FPC pretty much on the sidelines" he felt any comment should come from one of the agencies "actively involved."

Legislative Report Urges 6 Pct. Land Rental Extension

Rentals on state school land should be continued at 6 per cent of the appraised value rather than being reduced to 3 per cent as leaseholders urged, a special committee of the Legislative Council reported Thursday.

The committee said that in placing valuations for rental purposes it should be the "same as assessed valuation of all deeded land of the same class in the county."

Sen. John E. Beaver is chairman of the committee.

At present the land is appraised every three years and values have often varied from non-school land.

Braley To Miss Tiger Go

Hewitt Moved Up To No. 2 End Spot

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Jack Braley will definitely miss the Missouri game, Coach Bill Glassford announced Thursday as the squad started last-minute polishing for the Tiger fray at Memorial Stadium Saturday.

Braley, the right end on the second-quarter eleven, is confined in the Student Health Center with a chest infection, officially labeled by physicians as an "incapacitated collection of fluid in the chest area."

Don Hewitt, 184-pound junior from Des Moines, Ia., will take over Braley's duties Saturday in the only lineup change scheduled by Glassford.

Thursday was review day on the practice lot as the Huskers slacked off on the rough work. The defensive structure, with particular emphasis on guarding the air, got a thorough going over in an effort to "seal the perimeter."

The Husker lineups for Saturday will be:
Quarterback—Ends Andy Loehr and Bill Gillet. Tackles—Bill Holman and Don Glantz. Guards—Bob Wagner and Charley Bryant. Center—Bob Oberlin. Quarterback—Don Erway. Halfbacks—Don Combs and Dennis Kornek. Fullback—John Edwards.

More than 700 parents of University of Nebraska students will sit in a special section at the Nebraska-Missouri football game in celebration of Parents' Day, sponsored by the Innocents Society.

Besides a salute to parents, the half-time entertainment at the Stadium will include: presentation of the Ugliest Man on the Campus by the All-University Fund; traditional exchange of the victory belt between honor societies of Nebraska and Missouri; and a Hal-Loe theme by the 120-piece University Marching Band, under the direction of Prof. Donald Lentz.

The Band will begin its part of the program with the music, "Black Magic," indicating Nebraska's football fate; and then will form jack-o'-lanterns, with the music, "Peter, Peter," a ghost of Colorado; a black cat crossing Missouri's trail, with the music, "Pussy Cat," and a bat, symbol of good luck, with specially arranged music.

Boys Town To Pittsburgh

BOYS TOWN (INS)—A 29-man Boys Town football squad left Thursday for Pittsburgh and a game tonight with North Catholic High School.

The Cowboys, undefeated in six starts this season, will be co-captained by halfback Bob Rutledge, of Altoona, Pa., and quarterback Bill Isaac of Philadelphia, Miss. Both are senior lettermen.

Nebraska Wesleyan Homecoming

Homecoming is a gala affair, involving both work and fun. A large share of the work at Wesleyan's homecoming, tonight will be done by football players such as guard Jack Wilfang of Lincoln (bottom left). But the job of Mel Sheary (bottom, right) won't be difficult. As vice president of the W Club, he will present that group's sweetheart at the game. She will be one of the three girls he's contemplating above: Carolyn Rudd, Rome, N. Y.; Marilyn Kyes, Archer, and Beverly Monson, Blair.

Perhaps the most pleasant task of all will be that of the "old grads," like those pictured at the top: George Lemon, Rex Mercer, Cliff Squires and Max Barrett. Their unofficial task, and that of other alumni, is to return and see the Plainsmen in action against Hastings. (Star Photos.)

Plainsmen Underdogs

Friday night may be an unhappy homecoming for Nebraska Wesleyan and a happy night for Hastings College, Wesleyan's foe.

Hastings will be highly favored in the game. A victory would enable the Broncos to secure their first Nebraska College Conference championship.

In addition to the usual homecoming spirit, the Plainsmen have tradition on their side.

Wesleyan hasn't lost a home game to Hastings in eight years.

Wesleyan coach Kietz Skogman said earlier this week that the Plainsmen would be in better shape mentally and physically than they have been so far.

Hastings beat tough Kearney, 21-14, early in the season and Wesleyan rose up to tie Kearney.

The probable starters:

Wesleyan	Hastings

League Owners Refuse Bid By Syndicate; Macks Still In

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—The groggy Philadelphia Athletics stayed in the hands of the Mack family Thursday night after the bid of an eight-man Philadelphia syndicate was thumbed down by the American League in a six-hour meeting.

According to one club executive, the secret vote on the proposal to sell to the Philadelphia syndicate was 4-4. It was believed New York and Baltimore were in opposition and Detroit, Washington and Cleveland favorable. That left Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia to be accounted for.

Charles Comiskey, vice-president of the Chicago White Sox, said a "divergence of opinion in the Mack family on how the stock must be sold" was a reason for the owners' refusal.

"I will not come back to any more meetings until the Mack family (91-year-old Connie and his two sons, Earle and Roy) has settled their own affairs among themselves. It seems they can't make up their minds. There are others who feel the same."

Johnson Not Mentioned
Earl Hilligan, director of public relations for the league, said the $3,375,000 offer by Arnold Johnson, Chicago industrialist, to buy the A's and move the club to Kansas City was not discussed at this meeting. Hilligan had announced at an Oct. 12 meeting in Chicago that Johnson had been approved as an owner and Kansas City as a site, pending sale of the stock by the Mack family.

Whether Johnson will make another bid to acquire the Mack stock was not positive. He said he wanted to talk things over with his lawyer before deciding on his next step. However, he said he still was hopeful of getting the club for Kansas City. Johnson's lawyer, Edward L. Vollers of Chicago, said it was his opinion that "if we were to make another offer, it would require no further action by the league."

"As far as the American League is concerned the situation is status quo," said Will Harridge, league president. "The Macks have the ball club. They own the stock. They are going to operate the club. That's as far as we know for now."

Syndicate Baffled
The eight-man syndicate, which was ready to put up about four million dollars for the A's, was baffled at the rejection.

Northeast Beaten, 33-0, As Undefeated Iowa Club Roms

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

SIoux CITY, Ia.—Undefeated Sioux City East crushed Northeast with a tremendous single-wing running game and won 33-0 Thursday night.

Northeast was dangerous only in the first quarter when Quarterback John Douthit sprang Dick Beachell loose for a 30-yard end run which almost sent the hustling halfback all the way.

But the big and tough Black Raider line, which has paralyzed seven opponents this fall, stopped the Lincoln club on the Sioux City 29 and Northeast never threatened again.

Wayne Traver, a 195-pound tailback, pounded through the Rockets for three touchdowns, while lighter Joe Olson and Don Calvert each scored once.

Traver Leader
Traver led the Raider attack with his bruising smashes into the Northeast guards and tackles. He belted across from the 5 and from the 11 in the first quarter, and concluded the scoring on a 3-yard smash in the closing minutes of the game.

Olson ran across from the 8 in the second quarter on an end run for a 19-0 lead. Calvert cut through right tackle for 8 yards and a 28-0 lead in that period.

Outstanding for Sioux City was 190-pound Bob Prescott, a tough left end who handled the Northeast running game competently and aided the Raider attack with his adept pass catching.

He looked good on two catches, one of which he took out of the hands of a Northeast defender.

Traver whacked through the Rockets for 101 yards. He broke away for 24 yards to set up the first score and later shook loose from three Rockets to score the second touchdown.

Beachell did the heavy carrying for Northeast while Frank Colon, Jerry Stein and Pat Drake were among the better defensive players for the losers.

East has won all its games except a scoreless tie with Washington High of Sioux Falls, consistently a power in South Dakota football and undefeated in 38 games. Sioux City has not lost in twelve

Bluebirds' Final Game To Magee

Lincoln Cathedral's final home football game, originally scheduled for next Friday at College View field, has been switched to Nebraska Wesleyan's Magee Stadium the same night.

The Links and the Bluebirds must prove their merit against a pair of tough teams. Lincoln High plays Omaha Tech at Benson Field in an 8 p.m. game. Cathedral goes to Weeping Water for a 7:30 p.m. meeting.

Tech figures to be one of the best defensive teams Lincoln has faced this season. Although the Maroons' record is spotty, they appear to be in Omaha's upper bracket.

Lincoln beat North, 45-19, and Central, 40-6. The Links have won five other games by wide margins.

Cathedral, with a 5-2 record, meets unbeaten Weeping Water, The Star's third-ranked Class C team. Weeping Water has trounced all its foes handsily with the exception of Syracuse—the one basis of comparison between Cathedral and Weeping Water.

Weeping Water beat Syracuse, 20-12, in its fifth game of the season. Cathedral beat a defensive-minded Syracuse team, 6-0, in the season opener.

Caterpillars Beat French By 70-49

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The Peoria, Ill., Caterpillars pushed off to an early lead and raced past France for a 70-49 victory Thursday night in the World Basketball tournament.

The U.S. entry piled up a 31-21 halftime lead in its second victory of the eight-team, round-robin finals. It easily was the Caterpillars' best game of the tournament as they shot over France's zone defense in the first half and then simply ran away from a man-to-man defense employed by the Frenchmen in the second half.

Jim Minter and Dick Retherford shared scoring honors for the Peoria squad with 15 points each. Roger Haudegand topped French scoring with 13.

We Wish The People of The State of Nebraska Knew Our Townsman KEITH NEVILLE Like We Know Him

Keith Neville, a native of North Platte, has grown with Nebraska and this community, and has been active in the development and progress of his state and community.

Neville was one of the leading advocates in the development of the Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District in this area which, with other Hydro Districts, provided a power supply for Nebraska REA's which, in turn, have electrified over 90% of Nebraska farms.

When North Platte was without adequate hospital facilities, Neville was the leading advocate in building the Community hospital in North Platte, which was later conveyed for operation to the present St. Mary's hospital (Catholic). Recently he contributed generously to the erection of the new Memorial Hospital (Lutheran). Neville donated the first iron lung to this community. He is a member of the Episcopal Church.

Neville has been active in promoting the progress of this area, both private and public. In the year 1929, he was given the civic award for outstanding community service. Since that time he has remained active in all projects pertaining to the development and advancement of this community.

We sincerely believe that if the people of the State of Nebraska knew Keith Neville as we do and had seen him through his years of service in this community, they would unhesitatingly cast their votes for him for United States senator at the November election.

Twin Majorettes Feature NWU Band

No, you're not seeing double when the Nebraska Wesleyan University marching band moves into sight.

Those pretty majorettes strutting ahead of the 80-piece organization are identical twins — Margaret and Marjorie Schlichtemier of Scottsbluff.

The daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schlichtemier and Wesleyan sophomores this year, have been twirling as a team for the past three years.

The duo will be offering some of their precision work when the Wesleyan band performs at halftime between the Wesleyan-Hastings homecoming football game Friday night.

The Schlichtemier twins decided to become twirlers after having played clarinets together for six years in Scottsbluff bands. Following a sudden whim, they took 12 lessons; attended a summer twirling camp in Colorado; and fronted the Scottsbluff high school band as seniors.

The twins have identical career plans. They will become nurses and plan to leave Wesleyan this spring to enter a hospital for training.

Their hobby interests too are almost identical (horseback riding, swimming and animal pets) but they draw the line at one point—boys.

TV REPORTER "WRITES OFF" WINTER

"I wouldn't dare drive through the winter with anti-freeze in my car," says NBC-TV news-reel reporter William Birch. "My job is to film and report the news, wherever it is, and my car has to be ready to go! That's why I put in 'PRESTONE' anti-freeze every fall—and 'write off' winter!"

There's only one "PRESTONE" brand. Ask for it by name—make sure you get it. New low price only $2.95 per gallon.

Next Wrestle Card To Be Kids' Event

Prof. Adam Krieger, who has five children of his own, is giving Lincoln kids a belated Halloween treat Monday night.

The Professor announced Thursday that all children under 12 will be admitted free to next Monday's Fairgrounds wrestling program, which features a midjet tag team match.

The program was moved up to 8.30 p.m. Monday to avoid conflict with the Tuesday night elections.

Krieger also announced Thursday the supporting cast for the main event which will involve Chief Little Beaver, Sallie Hal-lasie, Ivan the Terrible and Irish Jackie. Two Lincoln wrestlers will be on the card.

Howard Pierce of Lincoln will wrestle Polish Al Warshawsky in the semifinal, a one-fall event. Jack Pesek, who now lists Lincoln as his residence, will meet Chest Bernard in the other supporting match.

Entire Top Ten Vulnerable

Looks Like Good Week End For Upsets

The Associated Press

Starting Friday night when unbeaten Miami, 10th on the weekly Associated Press poll, faces slightly-revived Fordham, there's a long list of football games this weekend in which overconfident favorites could get their toes stepped on.

It could happen to almost any of the others in the Top Ten Saturday, although solid-favorites predominate right-down the line.

Ohio State, which moved into the lead by crushing Wisconsin last week, sends Hopalong Cassidy, Dean Dugger & Co. against Northwestern, which hasn't won a Big Ten game since 1952. But only Minnesota has beaten the Wildcats by more than one touchdown this season and if they could generate a little scoring power, they might be tough for Ohio State.

Oklahoma and UCLA, rated close behind Ohio State in the sports writers' balloting take on a couple of rivals that could cost them their high rating.

Oklahoma's Sooners meet Colorado, a team that figured to be the Big Seven's Orange Bowl nominee until it blew one to Nebraska last week. Oklahoma hasn't been beaten in 43 Big Seven contests under Bud Wilkinson's coaching.

UCLA, the Pacific Coast leader, like Oklahoma ineligible for a bowl game this season, runs into California strong enough to give Southern California a real run last week.

A couple of other real big ones, based on the rankings, are Notre Dame vs. Navy at Baltimore and West Virginia vs. Pittsburgh at Morgantown, W. Va.

Elsewhere the principal games are:

EAST

Cornell-Columbia, Dartmouth-Yale, Holy Cross-Syracuse, Xavier (Ohio)-Boston College, Colgate-Princeton, Ohio University-Harvard, Brown-Lehigh and Bucknell-Boston University.

SOUTH

Maryland-South Carolina, Georgia-Alabama, Tulane-Auburn, Mississippi vs. Louisiana State, Mississippi State-Florida, Georgia Tech-Duke, North Carolina-Tennessee, Clemson-Wake Forest.

MIDWEST

Indiana-Michigan, Michigan State-Minnesota, Missouri-Nebraska, Kansas-Kansas State, Drake-Iowa State, Houston-Wichita and College of Pacific-Cincinnati.

SOUTHWEST

Baylor-Texas Christian, Southern Methodist-Texas, Vanderbilt-

Rice, Oklahoma A&M-Tulsa and Texas Tech-Arizona.

FAR WEST

Oregon State-Southern California Oregon - Washington, Washington State-Stanford, Idaho-Utah, Montana - Colorado A&M, Brigham Young-Utah State.

Strong Class C Clubs Try B School Gridders

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

Like the toughest kid in the seventh grade who decides he can lick the eighth grade champ, two Class C teams which have defeated all previous foes go out of their class tonight against strong B schools.

Weeping Water and Grant are the solid Class C teams with growing ambitions. They will tangle with competent Class B teams in top games of the Friday prep grid show.

Weeping Water, coached by Darwin Salestrom to the No. 3 spot in The Star's Class C ratings, goes against Lincoln Cathedral at Weeping Water. Salestrom, the former University of Nebraska guard, has developed the best Indian team in contemporary memory and his boys draw the nod in an upset of a good Bluebird club which is tenth in Class B.

Grant, the No. 2 squad, upset a powerful Ogallala team last fall but is tagged to lose its first game in two years tonight. Ogallala is sound again and will be up for this traditional rival.

Omaha Tech doesn't figure to trouble Lincoln High's attack at Omaha as the Links stay high in the Class A field.

The call goes to York against Curtis and to Ord against Gothenburg in Class B games of importance. Grand Island is picked over Fremont for the Eastern Division title of the Big 10.

The schedule:

Ron Donahue Offense Leader For Midland With 300 Yards

FREMONT—Ronnie Donahue, Midland quarterback, is the total offense leader for the Warriors so far this season although he has accounted for only 60 yards a game through passing and running.

Donahue has passed for 281 yards and rushed 19 for his total of 300 yards for five games. He has hit 16 of 53 passes and picked up an average of 56 yards per game passing.

Midland's two top halfbacks, Don Winter and Don Starmer are tied for the individual rushing lead with 163 yards gained in five games. Winter has carried 21 times for an average of more than seven yards per try, and Starmer has run 19 times for more than eight yards per try.

Midland will try to make it two in a row over Chadron Saturday night at Midland as the two teams clash in a Nebraska College Conference battle. Last year Midland walloped Chadron 44-7 at Chadron.

In the 10 games played between the schools so far, Midland has won two games and Chadron has taken eight.

The game will be Midland's final home game of the year. The Warriors complete their 1954 season at Kearney Nov. 5.

Grimsley, In Thin Air, Picks Missouri To Win

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—Looking over our 29-20 mark last week, the boss clucked his tongue and said maybe what we needed was a change of scenery. Mountain air might jog our thought processes.

So we find ourselves up here in the Alleghenies where West Virginia, one of the few remaining unbeaten, tangles with resurging Pittsburgh Saturday.

Although we hit Ohio State, Rice and Southern Cal in the big ones last week, our season average dropped to .714 on a 199-85 record.

That Yellow Stop Sign Fading Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—New developments keep popping up in the most surprising places. Like traffic signs, for instance.

This would seem to be a field in which everything had been settled and done with long ago. And yet the Bureau of Public Roads reported Thursday it has mailed state highway department revisions in the "Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices." It took 22 typewritten pages merely to list the changes.

Sample revision: That yellow stop sign you've been stopping at — well, anyway, slowing down at — all these years. It's on the way out. A red sign, with S-T-O-P in big white letters, already is used in many places. It soon will be standard everywhere.

Resented Them

Your reporter, like most motorists, had never given a nickel's worth of thought to where traffic signs came from. So it seemed like a good time to drop around and ask R. E. Royal of the bureau. What's up?

Beginning at the beginning, Royal went back to the time when many states not only didn't fret about traffic signs; they actually resented them. "The figured the local people knew where they were, and who cared about tourists?"

But in 1925 a U. S. highway system was set up. If roads were to be numbered uniformly, why couldn't the signs be uniform, too?

Red Means Danger

Gradually the idea expanded until a national committee, representing the top traffic associations, now sits in judgment on all changes.

Many of the revisions are so technical only an expert could care, but some are simple enough. Take that red sign. What about it? "You know, red means danger,"

Reds Make Possible First Move Toward Ousting U.S. Consulate From Hanoi

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Communist "military regime" of North Vietnam made the first move Thursday in what may be an effort to oust the U. S. consulate from Hanoi and the State Department immediately claimed the consulate has a legal right to remain.

State Department spokesman Henry Suydam charged that forcible ejection of the seven-man consular staff from Hanoi would be a "flagrant violation of the Geneva agreements" which brought a military truce to Indochina.

Suydam refused to speculate about what the U. S. would do if the Vietnamese forces the consulate out of Hanoi or made it impossible for it to function.

Reports from Indochina said the regime of Red leader Ho Chi-Minh announced it refuses to recognize the U. S. consulate which remained in Hanoi after Communist military forces took over the city from the French in accordance with the Geneva agreement.

No Vision

Suydam referred to the North Vietnam ruling powers as a "military regime" rather than a government. He said the U. S. considers that the armistice brought no political division of the largest of the three states of Indochina.

He said the U. S. position is based on a paragraph of the July '21 "final declaration" at Geneva in which the belligerents agreed:

"The conference recognizes that the essential purpose of the agreement relating to Vietnam is to settle military questions with a view to ending hostilities and that the military demarcation line should not in any way be interpreted as constituting a political or territorial boundary."

It was apparent from the gingerly way Suydam answered and dodged questions that the whole issue is still up in the air.

Suydam said that the State Department had evidence other than news reports that the Vietnam "military regime" was taking some stand on the consulate, but he declined to say what the other evidence was.

He refused even to say whether the consulate had communicated with the department, an obvious procedure whenever there is an issue of any moment.

The spokesman did say that the question of recognition of North Vietnam was not involved because the Geneva armistice ended the fighting without setting up normal governmental controls of North Vietnam.

He said this situation will continue until the country is unified by the elections called for by the Geneva agreement.

Harriman Calls His Opponents Users Of Nazi Big Lie Tactic

Demo Answers Dewey And Ives

By RICHARD P. HUNT
NEW YORK (AP)—Averell Harriman, Democratic candidate for governor, Thursday night called his Republican opponents users of the Nazi and Communist "technique of the big lie."
Harriman's speech was a full-dress answer to a series of "bomb-shell" charges made against him by his Republican opponent, Sen. Irving M. Ives, and by retiring Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.
"These unscrupulous men," Harriman said, "... repeat the same lie over again, in many variations despite denials and corrections."
"I recognize the technique," he added. "I have seen it before—not so much in the United States as in Germany and Soviet Russia. It is the technique of the big lie."

Fifth Charge
At the same time Ives delivered a fifth charge that Harriman in 1934 was arrested as a director of a corporation that "victimized" small investors of 60 million dollars. He added that the indictment against Harriman later was dismissed.
Harriman's campaign manager, John P. McGrath, answered: "They are now trying to blame Harriman for the Hoover depression. It is true that Republican mismanagement under Hoover in 1933 caused many title and mortgage companies to be unable to meet their obligations. The voting public rendered its verdict as to whom was responsible for that depression more than two decades ago."

There was a continuous hubbub over a previous charge that Harriman had voted in a 1952 presidential preference primary in Washington and thus interrupted his New York residence and disqualified himself to run for governor.
The state constitution requires five years of continuous residence prior to election.

'Absurdity'
Harriman said Dewey's contention that he had sworn an oath that he was a legal resident of Washington, D.C., "is a lie as far as a legal absurdity, as lawyer Dewey should well know."

State Atty. Gen. Nathaniel Goldstein, a Republican, "has been studying the situation," an assistant said, but has not decided on what action if any he might take in the matter of Harriman's eligibility.

President Eisenhower entered the state campaign indirectly by sending a telegram to the GOP state chairman calling for "a tremendous vote—confident that the overwhelming majority of the American people support good government and will vote accordingly."

Harriman's speech to about 3,000 at a Queens rally took up the Republican charges one after another. The speech was broadcast on TV and radio.

Three of the previous charges, as well as Ives' new one Thursday night, dealt with aspects of Harriman's business career before he entered public service under Presidents Roosevelt and Truman.

Hoyt To Seek Increase For Program

Ed Hoyt, state agricultural director, told the Nebraska Farm Bureau policy meeting Thursday, that he plans to ask the State Legislature for $100,000 yearly for the next two years to carry out the brucellosis prevention program. The program, set up in 1953, has been budgeted at $40,000 a year. Charles Marshall, president of the Nebraska Farm Bureau, explained that delegates to the convention in mid-November would probably have to decide on such issues as taxes, roads, schools, and various farm programs. "The policy meeting now in progress is digesting and formulating the resolutions which were submitted by the county units in order that they might be presented to the voting delegates at the convention in November," he said. "The policies of the Nebraska Farm Bureau are set up by its members," Marshall said. Hoyt also said the Legislature's attention would be called to the fact that farmers need assurance by law that the fertilizer they buy is exactly as labeled. He said the seed law should be changed so that "non-warranty" clauses, excusing the seller from responsibility, would be eliminated from seed tags. Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin told the meeting that a program to educate Nebraska veterinary students at schools in surrounding states is expected to be presented to the Legislature during the next session. Hardin told the group that negotiations are now going on with Colorado A&M, Kansas State and Iowa State Colleges. The expense incurred in sending Nebraska students to out-of-state schools would not be as great as the expense of setting up a new school here to accommodate them," he said.

Every Vice Man Knows Uncovered

... Military Says

By REX THOMAS
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The military commander of Phenix City says investigators have found evidence of "every vice known to man" in the crumbling ruins of a once-powerful racketeering domain.

"There's hardly a crime on the statute books we haven't uncovered," explained Adjutant Gen. Walter J. (Crack) Hanna, whose National Guardsmen have replaced civilian law enforcement officers in the fabled city of sin.

All Over Now
"It's the damndest place I've ever heard of," the tough two-star general added. "But it's over now. The gangsters are gone and their 'ackets have been smashed. Phenix City is cleaned up for good."

Specifically, Hanna said raiding teams of guardsmen and state highway patrolmen uncovered evidence of "murder, arson, rape, burglary, abortion, robbery, election stealing, jury tampering, narcotics, bribery of public officials, crooked gambling, and just about any others you can name."

"But when you talk about gambling in Phenix City," the officer continued in an interview, "gambling is not the word for it. It was highway robbery."

All Crooked
Of the "thousands" of dice and decks of cards confiscated during the raids on vice dens, Hanna said, "We haven't found the first one, not the first pair of dice or deck of cards, that wasn't crooked."

His investigators even located what they described as a "factory" where they were manufactured.

The general also disclosed that, "We have a hell of a lot of evidence of jury tampering in Phenix City. Many of the juries were controlled by the racketeers. Some of them served as jurors."

Wholesale Election Fraud
There was wholesale election fraud, too, Hanna added. Witnesses have told of prostitutes rounded up by the dozens on election day and voted in one precinct after another.

National Guardsmen also uncovered a burglary ring which Hanna says was controlled by one racketeer. The "apprentice" safecrackers all learned their trade, the general said, from a veteran, Johnny Benefield, described by Hanna as the "professor" in the "college of burglary."

585 Indictments
Benefield was convicted of possessing burglary tools during the vice trials which resulted from the cleanup.

The emergency grand jury empaneled to prosecute the vice lords has returned 585 indictments thus far with more expected next week. Although the indictments have dealt chiefly with gambling, they also cover most of the other crimes mentioned by Hanna.

Fourteen of the 78 defendants under indictment have been convicted or pleaded guilty. The others are in special sessions of court which will resume Nov. 15.

Ike And Adenauer Agree On 'Strong Free' Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower joined West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Thursday in tying Germany's reunification hopes to a strong free Europe rather than Russia's proposal for four-power talks.

In a joint statement the two heads of government said they have "no doubt that the strengthening of free Europe which will result from the recent London and Paris agreements will aid our efforts to bring freedom and unity to all of the German people."

They found nothing new in the latest Soviet note, one of a series dangling before West Germans the lure of a conference of Russia, France, Britain and the United States that might end the division of their country. Eisenhower and his guest, Adenauer, agreed.

"It is our initial view that this does not seem to offer any new proposal on the part of the Soviet Union; it appears essentially as a reiteration of the positions taken by Mr. Molotov—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov—at the conference in Berlin regarding Germany and European security."

Highest Support
Thus Adenauer received renewed support from the highest level of the U. S. government for his campaign to have the German Parliament put its trust in the Paris and London agreements on German sovereignty and rearmament.

These agreements, completed only five days ago, must stand their chances in all the parliaments concerned, including the West German. Russia, implacable foe of German rearmament, can be expected to redouble efforts to defeat them, perhaps by more insistence on four-power talks on German reunification, perhaps by more spectacular moves such as withdrawing troops from East Germany or proposing a peace treaty with neighboring Austria.

Thursday's statement was issued after Adenauer met for half an hour with Eisenhower and an additional hour and a half with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. The document pledged efforts for bringing together the German people now free in the West and under a Soviet satellite government in the East. It said:

Peaceful Means
"The demand for a reunited Germany in freedom is viewed by us as the legitimate demand of the German people. We are agreed that this aim shall be achieved only by peaceful means. We are convinced of the necessity of continued efforts towards this goal and are agreed that such efforts will be made by the United States and the Federal Republic of Germany together with the governments of the United Kingdom and France."

The statement also saluted the London-Paris agreements as a step towards establishment of a European community, a cause to which Adenauer is deeply committed.

It pledged continued U. S. efforts to seek release of German prisoners of war and deportees still held in the Soviet Union.

Finally, it expressed Eisenhower's "sympathy for the problem" of German assets in the United States seized during World War II and agreement that "conversations between representatives of our two governments will soon begin."

U.S. Hails Okay Of Oil Settlement

WASHINGTON (INS)—The United States hailed Thursday the ratification of the Anglo-Iranian oil settlement which will restart the flow of Iranian oil to world markets.

The State Department announcement was made shortly after the Iranian Parliament approved the agreement signed Aug. 5 between Iran and an international oil consortium.

The department said that, under the leadership of the Shah and Prime Minister Zadeh, Iran would be in a better position than before to make full use of its great natural resources.

Irrigation Units' Requests Studied

State Engineer L. N. Rens and Chief Dan Jones of the Bureau of Irrigation took under advisement Thursday the application of the North and Middle Loup Irrigation districts for extension of time in which to complete their projects and apply water to the land.

Objection was entered by the Loup River Power and Irrigation district which contends the department is without authority to grant the extension. The hearing lasted all day with testimony being introduced by the North Loup district. The same facts were used for the Middle Loup application.

Ike-Joe Unity Showing On Television Suggested

BOSTON (INS)—Chairman Elmer Nelson, of the Massachusetts state Republican committee Thursday suggested a television appearance of President Eisenhower and Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) to demonstrate GOP unity.

He explained: "It would be a good idea if they got together and showed the people of the country there is no animosity, and it would show that despite differences of opinion, they are both driving for the same end—to get rid of Communism."

NEW SEALED BEAM HEADLAMP UNVEILED-

Safer And Easier Night Driving Looms

DETROIT (INS)—Night driving in the United States will be safer and easier with a new type of sealed beam headlamp introduced Thursday by the Automobile Manufacturers Association in Detroit.

The first major improvement in the sealed beam headlamp since its introduction in 1939, the new design represents a four-year co-operative engineering effort by U.S. motor vehicle and headlamp

Nation's Traffic Deaths Decline

CHICAGO (INS)—The National Safety Council said Thursday the nation's traffic deaths declined in September for the ninth straight month of 1954.

A spokesman said 3,020 persons across the nation were killed in traffic accidents in September, but the toll was 7 per cent less than in September of 1953. A toll of 25,770 deaths in the nine months of January through September was 6 per cent less than the corresponding 1953 period.

The council said traffic deaths during the nine months in South Carolina showed a 25 per cent drop, the biggest decrease of any state. Wyoming showed an 18 per cent decrease, and Virginia and Maine, 17 per cent.

manufacturers, working closely with public officials in the United States and Canada.

According to the A.M.A., the latest advancement in auto road lighting was made necessary by the changing pattern of night driving in the past 15 years. Since the number of motor vehicles in the country has doubled since World War II, the average night driver must keep his headlights depressed for oncoming vehicles much more of the time.

So in attacking the problem of providing more seeing distance with the lower beam without affecting oncoming drivers, the automotive and lighting engineers came up with these major improvements as demonstrated to newsmen Thursday:

1. Better distribution of light on the roadway. The lower beam is most noticeably improved giving 80 feet more seeing distance along the right side and shoulder of the road.

2. A sharp reduction in stray light radiating upward from the lower beam filament. This change greatly improves night seeing ability in fog, rain, or other adverse weather conditions, and lessens the possibility of glare.

3. More light throughout both lower and upper beam patterns. The lamp is completely interchangeable with the sealed beam headlamps presently in use and operates on either six or 12-volt electrical circuits.

The head lamp manufacturers which co-operated in producing the new development are General Electric, Electric Autolite Corp., Guide Lamp Division of GM, Tung-Sol Electric, Inc., and Westinghouse Electric Corp.

Anderson Leaves His Collections To Historical Society

OMAHA—The curio and historical collection amassed by the late Carl A. Anderson, who died here in September, is to be given to the Nebraska Historical Society, according to the terms of his will.

Also provided in the will is funds for the construction of a $25,000 Spanish-American War memorial to be located at the West Lawn Cemetery in Omaha.

Mr. Anderson was head of Carl A. Anderson Inc. of Omaha and Lincoln.
